

No company or business has a god given right to invade your privacy with their advertising. It's just too bad the citizens can't get the same protection from spammers as the no-call lists provides for phone calls. I say no the the bank call issue and beg you to place restrictions on spammers as well.